

Exploring Possibility in the World of Work

Keynote/Workshop

Andy has a background in the recruitment industry, and has spent the last 15 years training recruitment professionals. He's also the founder of the company culture blog and consultancy Enviably Workplace; helping leaders to better create, communicate and measure great company culture. <http://enviableworkplace.com>

This keynote & workshop is designed to help young people to connect with a future point of success so they're able to have a clearer sense of vision and purpose whilst considering their career/ university or entrepreneurial options on leaving school.

You can email me at andy@andypartridge.co.uk or call me on +44 (0) 7976 262776

We look at how they can better connect with, and articulate, their values and purpose in order to make stronger emotional connection when hitting the workforce, helping them to find competitive advantage in the recruitment process.

We also explore how to create journey maps, build and develop effective Personal Brands, and look at the types of opportunities they could explore to match their visions of success.

You can email me at andy@andypartridge.co.uk or call me on +44 (0) 7976 262776

Key areas covered:

- Creating and connecting with a vision of success
- Understanding and articulating values & purpose
- Creating a confident Personal Brand
- Mapping the journey
- Creating greater emotional connection in the recruitment process
- Exploring opportunities in the world of work

You can email me at andy@andypartridge.co.uk or call me on +44 (0) 7976 262776

Andy can be viewed here speaking at the Airbnb EMEA 2015 conference.

<http://andypartridge.co.uk>

<http://enviableworkplace.com>

<http://uk.linkedin.com/in/andypartridge>